

EAGLE-EYED AUTHOR'S BOAT GUIDE

A VOLUNTEER coast watchkeeper at Rame Head has made the most of his position – and published a book.

Over the past three years Stewart Lenton, pictured above with copies of his new book, has compiled a unique record of just about every registered fishing boat in Devon and Cornwall.

His photographic collection has been useful for identification purposes to the various safety organisations.

But now, with the addition of more photographs and background information on the various locations where the fishing boats are kept, it has been turned into an attractive book of interest to the masses. He said: "It could even serve as a sort of 'I-spy' family pursuit to keep youngsters occupied."

For further information on the book, which is available in some book shops, call Stewart on 01752 862832 or visit www.fishportboats.co.uk.
